GEORGETOWN

Baptists Select the Rev. C. E. Cook, of Philadelphia.

The Rev. Clinton E. Cook, of Philadelphia, who was extended a call by the congregation of the Columbia Baptist Church, of Georgetown, on March IS, has accepted, and will assume charge next Sunday. charge next Sunday.

The Columbia Baptist Church, which is an offspring of the West Washington Baptist Church, of Thirty-first and N streets northwest, has been without a spiritual head for some time, the Rev. George W. McCullough, of Tenleytown, being the acting pastor.

The Chesapeake and Ohio canal will open for the season on April 1. The traffic season generally opens about the middle of March, but owing to the lateness of cleaning the Georgetown level, several weeks delay was experienced.

The Rev. Father Joseph C. Mallon, pastor of St. Ann's Catholic Church, of Tenleytown, is ill of typhoid fever. Anthony Remcy, of 1321 Wisconsin venue northwest, is critically ill at his ome.

While the fishing season is fully coned in the vicinity of Georgetown, no good catches have yet been reported. Local fishermen say that the annual run of herring will soon appear. Perchare biting, but not freely.

The man who watches for his opportunity will get there sooner than the man who waits for it. The man who watches the "Help Wanted" columns of The Times doesn't have to wait long for an opportunity to market his services. Each day, in the classified columns, business men, manufacturing concerns, big and little enterprises, advertise their need for competent help. The man who reads these columns reads the notices of other men who desire his services-men who, when they need efficient employes, know that the best way to secure them is through The Times.
